Jane's Trip to the Operating Theatre

A story for children about having an operation

Hello, my name is Jane.

Today, I went to the hospital
to get my sore arm fixed.

It was a great adventure.

It was a fun place to visit.

I met lots of friendly people there.

I got to play with lots of toys.

I didn't eat my breakfast this morning.

Mum says there will be some yummy food after my sore arm is fixed by the Doctor.

I met a very nice nurse.

She was friendly and fun to talk to.

The nurse took my temperature.

She gave me a name band so everyone will know I am Jane.

She put some magic cream on my hand.

Not everyone needs magic cream.

I went to a place called the theatre for my operation.

The nurse asked me to put on a hospital gown and a hat.

I went for a ride in a moving bed.

It was fun.

My mum came with me.

She got a gown and hat to wear too.

In theatre I met nice nurses and doctors. They were wearing blue pyjamas and hats.

I got to blow up a special balloon. It smelled of strawberries. It was fun.

I was a little sleepy after the operation

I was very brave.

When I was feeling better, I had a drink.

When it was finished we went home.

Bye Bye Everyone!
